Next Meeting – August 13th, 2020

IN THE PITS

by Mike Laible

Well this is a late newsletter and I let the meeting date pass without notifying everyone. I guess I could make a thousand excuses but I will only make one – I forgot what day it was!!!!!! Actually wanted to send it out but week went strange right off the bat. First started with a tooth ache – first one ever. Have had healthy teeth forever. So I was told it needed to come out after two weeks of OUCHHHH. It went ok, then it didn't want to come out – well one thing led to another.

In addition, I have had my Mom and Dad's dog for almost 3 years now. He has been wonderful and a real blessing for my wife and patients at local hospitals (faithful friend dog). Well his heart was going bad and it finally gave out. Get this, on the same day my mom passed 5 years earlier. Humm, coincident right. Anyway, enough of my stuff.

What is new? Everybody staying safe? These are strange times. Every time I am about ready to say forget this virus somebody tells me a story of someone getting it bad. I hear some good results using inhalers spiked with asthma steroids and now the Remdesivir in the inhalers. Not a vaccine, just a quicker, more successful cure rate.

Anyway, we had a scare at Texas City but it seems everything happened like it should. He let everyone know and it was broadcast ASAP. So be careful not fearful.

Also, should let everyone know that all clubs around here have opened a welcome mat for us. This I am truly thankful for, Alvin, Texas City, Gulf Coast, Prop Nuts, Jetero. Anyway, remember to be a gracious guest.

Well, now for flying. I went out to Texas City on July 4th. Had my two 60 six warbirds and a giant scale P47. Got the old P40 out to fly it. It did great in the air and engine stayed in. A 5-7 cross wind so came in and rusty on landing. Yep, hit hard and bent landing gear – DARNN. Oh well, get mustang out (newly bought bird, my first flight). Took off but to tail heavy for me. Came in a little cross wind, to slow, bam, bent the other gear. DARNNN (three N's this time). Well, put my tail between my legs and went home. They are fixed and ready to go. Moral of the story, if you haven't flown in awhile, take it easy, be careful.

Finally, please use the JSC RCC Groups for JSC RCC items and at this time, lets leave politics and social issues for another forum.

Never stop building, never stop flying.

Godspeed and safe landings,

Mike

JUNE MINUTES

by Mike Laible

No meeting so no minutes. But Brian did send me the budget for the month. We spent 19.47 for a lock for Texas City. This is a special JSC member lock for our shutdown. If you need the combo write either Brian or myself, just didn't want to send it our on newsletter.

Treasure $8361.88

Membership ~70

I included some members that I know would be resigning but no hurry with COVID. So we are in good shape and just need the center to get open. I will pulse NASA on what phase the JSC RC will be allowed.

Now for club events. I only have what I know so, if there is anything ya'll have send it in to me.

Ok, I'm done for my monthly request. First up is the Zirolli B-25. Its coming along ang since this picture I have started the other wingtip. In addition to this I have a Bearcat ready to paint. It is a nice challenge to do project engineering on two projects at the same time.

Below is a pic Evgeny snapped during the June Bomber warbird event. As I mentioned last month, I had a great time. Flew the bomber 4 times, I believe this pic was after the third and I was getting exhausted and Evgeny caught me in a smile.

Next up is the hing wing ho down at Jetero. Boy it started bad, like inches of rain. However, it cleared up and everyone had a great time.

My two bi planes waiting fo rflights. Got me 2-3 flights each. Actually had some of the nicest flights on the SPAD in some time.

That's all for this month. Hopefully we are flying soon.

Oh wait, one last item. Seems like the email problem has been the IP address is getting spammed a lot. They have nailed it down to JSCRC.com. I purchased the address jscrc.org. This should solve the problem. I'll keep you informed
