Pilot To Crew...

It's now the "DOG-DAYS" of summer with high temperatures and high humidity. If you fly during the heat of the day, you might want to follow some of these common sense things to do: wear a hat or cap, use a "sun-block" lotion, wear cool clothing, wear "good" ultraviolet protection sunglasses, bring some water. Help your plane and engine too! Run a lower nitro content fuel to reduce engine heat, run engine a little richer, cover engines/planes with a light piece of cloth when not flying (especially if your plane is a dark color) to protect against "heat build-up" on airframes.

We (MSC/RCC) have not had a simple fun-fly in quite a while. I would like to have a volunteer to organize a Saturday or Sunday Fun Fly. We can have fuel for prizes, semi-"pylon" type races, loops, spins, rolls, clime & glide, etc... Please think about it.

We need input for this newsletter; its tough on people when just a few have to "create" each month. This is your newsletter so give us some goodies!!

I want to continue with welcoming new members to our club. If you need help in building, instruction on flying or just want to talk give me or one of the instructors a call.
